Healthcare If You Need It

We are all feeling the impact of the current economic crisis. Many of us are suddenly confronted with new challenges and are unsure where to look for help. One of the most pressing issues for many is the lack of health insurance, which may prevent people from seeking medical care. The Community Health Centers in our area are available to help and treat patients regardless of health insurance status. The Veterans' Centers also provide health care to the uninsured. I encourage you to visit them for health-care. They are there to help you with basic health services, dentistry, mental and substance abuse issues.
