

FIND YOUR BREATH OF FREEDOM

The original Smithsonian Channel™ documentary Breath of Freedom tells the story of the African-American GIs who helped rebuild Germany at the end of World War II. After experiencing equality for the first time overseas, these soldiers helped spark the Civil Rights Movement in the U.S. Let their story inspire you to Make Your Mark in your own school or community with the Smithsonian Channel™ Make Your Mark Contest.

Smithsonian CHANNEL

MAKE YOUR MARK CONTEST

SUBMISSION DATES: JAN. 20, 2014 - FEB. 28, 2014

Just as the soldiers in Breath of Freedom helped ignite the Civil Rights Movement, high school students can create their own movement. In celebration of Black History Month, Smithsonian Channel™ invites students to submit an idea—a Mark—that will leave a lasting impression within their school and/or community.

The winning Mark will receive $2,500 toward a school or community project.

VISIT WWW.SMITHSONIANCHANNELMAKEYOURMARK.COM/CABLEVISION TO ENTER.

HERE'S HOW TO ENTER

1 Watch Breath of Freedom.

Get inspired by the African American soldiers who made their Mark by igniting the Civil Rights movement.

2 Capture Your Mark on Camera.

Record a video that showcases why your Mark should be chosen and how your school or community could benefit from $2,500.

3 Spread the Word.

Post on Facebook. Tweet it out. Email EVERYONE! Get friends and family to vote for your idea.