IDENTITY PROTECTION UPDATE

Protecting your identity and personal information has become more and more difficult in the information age. As your state representative, I am working to make sure the State of Connecticut provides consumers with the tools they need to keep identity thieves at bay.

The General Assembly passed legislation requiring businesses and state agencies to encrypt your personal data; notify you if your personal information has been compromised; offer one year of identity theft prevention services to affected individuals at no cost; and require health insurers and contractors who receive personal information from state agencies to implement and maintain security safeguards. We also passed legislation requiring credit reporting agencies to waive the fees they typically charge if you are a victim of identity theft and need to freeze your credit.

With technology changing and improving so frequently we must be prepared for any potential threats to our identity.

Please keep in touch with me on this important issue.

WHAT IS IDENTITY THEFT?

Identity theft is the number one source of consumer fraud in the United States. Identity theft occurs when a person steals someone else's personal data like a Social Security number or credit card number and uses it for personal profit. It can be very difficult and time consuming to correct a stolen identity and catch the criminal responsible.

PREVENTION

Using strong passwords for credit cards and bank accounts as well as strong computer protection software can help protect against identity theft. When shopping online, use one credit card specifically for online purchases and look for the lock image to ensure you are on a secure site. Never give out personal information like a social security or bank account number unless it is with a company you know. Review a copy of your credit report at least once each year to watch for signs of identity theft. You can get one free credit report every year from each of the three credit bureaus, for a total of 3 reports per year by visiting www.annualcreditreport.com or calling 1-877-322-8228.

DETECTION

There are several indicators of identity theft that you should look out for. Failing to receive your regular bills or being denied credit for no apparent reason are two possible signs. Receiving credit cards you did not apply for or calls from debt collectors or businesses about merchandise or services you did not buy are also red flags.

RESPONSE

If you are the victim of identity theft, report the crime to police and keep a copy of the police report to share with creditors. You should also contact your bank, creditors, the IRS, your utilities and all service companies. Call the fraud department of one of the three major credit bureaus below and ask them to flag your file with a fraud alert and to include a statement that creditors should get your permission before opening any new accounts in your name.
